LESSON 4-B: PRONUNCIATION LESSON

4.1-B Read COMING TO THE UNITED STATES aloud for pronunciation practice.

COMING TO THE UNITED STATES

<sup>1</sup> Between 1850 and 1930, many people immigrated to the United States. Large groups came from non-English speaking countries such as Germany, Italy, Austria, Russia, Mexico, Sweden, Norway, Poland, China, and Japan. Most immigrants from these countries did not speak English when they arrived. Frequently, the adults learned only simple English. Their children learned English when they studied in American schools.

<sup>2</sup> During that period of time, there was a strong feeling among English-speaking Americans--and sometimes even among immigrant parents--that English was the only language that should be used. As a result, many immigrant children learned their parents' language when they were young, but stopped using it after they began attending American schools. They spoke only English unless they were talking to their parents or attending their parents' church. When these children became older, many could understand their parents' language but they could not speak it well. Equally, their parents could understand some English, but could not speak it fluently. This resulted in two languages being used in many homes. The parents used their own language when speaking to their children and the children responded in English.

<sup>3</sup> It was good that the immigrant children learned English well. It was not good, however, that the attitude at the time resulted in the loss of their ability to speak two languages fluently.

<sup>4</sup> Now that you live in the United States, there will be many advantages for you if you learn to speak English well. It is our hope that Spoken English Learned Quickly will help you reach your goal of speaking fluent English. However, learning English must never reduce the value of your own language and cultural heritage. Always be proud of it. If you are a parent now-or when you have your own children-teach them your language and your culture.

<sup>5</sup> Work hard to learn English well. But never forget your first language. Be proud of your language and cultural heritage.

LESSON 10-B: PRONUNCIATION LESSON

10.1-B Read The Journey of a Wise Man aloud for pronunciation practice.

<sup>3</sup> The wise man noticed something strange taking place soon after they began their journey. As they traveled day after day, his right arm began to feel stiff. The further they traveled from the High Country, the weaker it became. Three things puzzled him. First, his arm always felt the weakest whenever they stopped in a village. Secondly, he noticed that when the travelers from the High Country gathered around a fire at night to talk among themselves, his arm became strong again.

<sup>4</sup> His third discovery puzzled him the most. When he put his arm behind his back, it no longer felt stiff and useless.

<sup>5</sup> One day the wise man was startled. As his wagon rounded a bend in a high mountain road, he looked down on his neighbors' wagons ahead of him. He realized that many others were also holding an arm behind their back. As he looked more closely, he saw that some older people had even tied their arm in place with a rope.

<sup>7</sup> At last they reached the Low Country. The weather was warm. The fields would produce grain and the forests would supply lumber for their houses. Life looked promising. Promising, that is, except for their weak arms. It was rumored that the Low Country's air caused this strange weakness. Some of the people even said they must learn to live with this weakness if they wanted to stay in the Low Country.

<sup>8</sup> The adults and children set to work. They cleared the land, planted crops, and prepared lumber to build their new homes. A High Country tailor sewed a new kind of coat that would hold the useless arm in place. He also put leather on the coat so the shoulder could push heavy loads. Even with the new coat, however, work was slow because everyone used only one arm.

<sup>9</sup> Again, the wise man noticed a strange thing. First, he noticed that--even though it caused them pain--the children soon began using their weak arm again. Secondly, the wise man noticed that whenever the High Country people met together in their first buildings, if they shut all the doors and windows, strength returned to the arms of even the oldest men and women. "Surely," most said, "this proves that the Low Country air is at fault." Most agreed that the only solution was to build houses so strong that all Low Country air could be kept outside. But the wise man was puzzled most because the children seemed to become stronger while playing and working outside in the Low Country air.

<sup>10</sup> The wise man watched his High Country neighbors trying to build their houses while using only one arm. He became fearful for his people's welfare. The new coat helped them work faster with one arm. But winter was coming and neither the houses nor the crops would be ready if everyone continued to work with one arm behind their back.

<sup>11</sup> The wise man learned a lesson from the children. He realized that--even though it was painful--using his weak arm for hard work was the only way to make it strong again. Because winter was coming, he knew that he could not stop working on his house in order to spend all his time trying to make his arm strong. But he also knew that he could not finish his house before winter unless he used both arms. The wise man decided that if he was to finish his house before winter, he must spend some time each day strengthening his arm so that he could finish his house more quickly.

<sup>13</sup> Some High Country people perished that winter because the snow came before their crops were harvested and their houses finished. They had worked slowly every day because they were afraid to stop working on their houses long enough to strengthen their weak arm.

<sup>14</sup> If you live in the United States and cannot speak English well, you are living as though one arm was tied behind your back. You must work to support your family. But if you do not spend time each day learning English, you will be limited for the rest of your life. Spoken English Learned Quickly was written so that you can study at home and still hold a job. If you will regularly study English each day for six months to a year, your English will greatly improve. You will be more able to earn higher wages, live more effectively in your community, and talk with your children as they learn English in school.

This is the end of Lesson 10. Use your extra time this week to review Lessons 6-9.

LESSON 11: EXERCISE LESSON

11.1 Lesson Text 5:1-21 (Acts). Repeat each sentence.

But there was a man, (But there was a man,) / who with his wife, (who with his wife,) / sold some property that belonged to them. (sold some property that belonged to them.) / But there was a man, who with his wife, sold some property that belonged to them. (But there was a man, who with his wife, sold some property that belonged to them.) / But with his wife's agreement (But with his wife's agreement) / he kept part of the money for himself (he kept part of the money for himself) / and turned the rest over to the apostles. (and turned the rest over to the apostles.) / But with his wife's agreement he kept part of the money for himself and turned the rest over to the apostles. (But with his wife's agreement he kept part of the money for himself and turned the rest over to the apostles.)

Peter said to him, (Peter said to him,) / Why did you let Satan take control of you (Why did you let Satan take control of you) / and make you lie to the Holy Spirit (and make you lie to the Holy Spirit) / by keeping part of the money you received for the property? (by keeping part of the money you received for the property?) / Peter said to him, Why did you let Satan take control of you and make you lie to the Holy Spirit by keeping part of the money you received for the property? (Peter said to him, Why did you let Satan take control of you and make you lie to the Holy Spirit by keeping part of the money you received for the property?)

Before you sold the property, (Before you sold the property,) / it belonged to you; (it belonged to you;) / and after you sold it, (and after you sold it,) / the money was yours. (the money was yours.) / Before you sold the property, it belonged to you; and after you sold it, the money was yours. (Before you sold the property, it belonged to you; and after you sold it, the money was yours.) / Why, then, did you decide to do such a thing? (Why, then, did you decide to do such a thing?) / You have not lied to people, (You have not lied to people,) / you have lied to God. (you have lied to God.) / You have not lied to people, you have lied to God. (You have not lied to people, you have lied to God.)

As soon as the man heard this, (As soon as the man heard this,) / he fell down dead; (he fell down dead;) / and all who heard about it were terrified. (and all who heard about it were terrified.) / As soon as the man heard this, he fell down dead; and all who heard about it were terrified. (As soon as the man heard this, he fell down dead; and all who heard about it were terrified.) / The young men came in, (The young men came in,) / wrapped up his body, (wrapped up his body,) / carried him out, (carried him out,) / and buried him. (and buried him.) / The young men came in, wrapped up his body, carried him out, and buried him. (The young men came in, wrapped up his body, carried him out, and buried him.)

About three hours later (About three hours later) / his wife, not knowing what had happened, (his wife, not knowing what had happened,) / came in. (came in.) / About three hours later his wife, not knowing what had happened, came in. (About three hours later his wife, not knowing what had happened, came in.) / Peter asked her, (Peter asked her,) / Tell me, (Tell me,) / was this the full amount you and your husband received for the property? She will have said "hello"	before you enter the house.
The car will have run out of gas	before it stops .
We will have sent the gift	before we know she is leaving.

"WHERE" AND "WHEN"

Where and a place

Where is used to ask a question about a place.

Where will they go tomorrow?

Where is my book?

Where is the closest bus stop?

Where can be used to identify a place.

This is the place where we will stand.

He followed the men to the house where they were meeting.

He will show the officer where the woman was hurt.

When and time

When is used to ask a question about time.

When will we leave?

When does the bus arrive?

When did he finish his work?

When can be used to identify the time something happened.

They were afraid when we left.

We don't know when it will be finished.

I need to leave when my car is fixed.

USING THE WORD "IF"

(Past) = past tense,	(Present) = present tense,	(Future) = future tense.
----------------------	----------------------------	--------------------------

When something is true. <sup>(Present + Future)</sup>

1. If we take<sup>(Present)</sup> this road, we will go past<sup>(Future)</sup> the hospital.

- The hospital is on this road.

2. If we continue<sup>(Present)</sup> working, we will finish<sup>(Future)</sup> the lesson today.

- We will be able to finish the lesson today if we do not stop working.

When something depends on something else <sup>(Present + Future)</sup>

1. If you study<sup>(Present)</sup> the lessons, you will learn<sup>(Future)</sup> to speak English quickly.

- If you study, you will learn to speak English quickly.
- But if you don't study, you will not learn to speak English.

2. If we walk<sup>(Present)</sup> quickly, we will arrive<sup>(Future)</sup> on time.

- If we walk quickly, we will not be late.
- If we walk slowly, we will be late.

An unlikely possibility <sup>(Past + Future)</sup>

1. If I had<sup>(Past)</sup> the time, I would go<sup>(Future)</sup> home.

- But I don't have the time, so I probably will not go home.

2. If we had<sup>(Past)</sup> enough money, we would build<sup>(Future)</sup> a new house.

- But we don't have enough money, so we will not build a house.

USING THE WORD "IF" (continued)

(Past) = past tense,	(Present) = present tense,	(Future) = future tense.
----------------------	----------------------------	--------------------------

An event that did not happen <sup>(Past + Past)</sup>

1. If they had had<sup>(Past)</sup> the time, they would have gone<sup>(Past)</sup> home.

- But they did not have the time, so they did not go home.

2. If I had fixed<sup>(Past)</sup> my car yesterday, I would have arrived<sup>(Past)</sup> on time.

- But I did not fix my car yesterday, so I was late.

Something that is contrary to what is happening <sup>(Past + would, could, or might)</sup>

1. If we were driving<sup>(Past)</sup> the car, we could take the other road.

- But we are not driving the car, so we cannot take the other road.

2. If we had worked<sup>(Past)</sup> more quickly, we would already be finished.

- But we worked slowly, so we are not finished.

3. If I had read<sup>(Past)</sup> the book, I might have understood the lesson.

- But I did not read the book, so I do not understand the lesson.

LESSON 15-B: PRONUNCIATION LESSON

15.1-B Read The Wise Man's Discovery aloud for pronunciation practice.

<sup>1</sup> A long time ago, there was a wise man living in the Low Country. He and his neighbors had built new homes and started a new life.

<sup>2</sup> Their first winter in the Low Country was difficult because many had not finished their houses or harvested their crops before winter. When spring finally came, they knew that they must not only plant their crops, but they must also build a granary to store the coming harvest.

<sup>3</sup> They talked much about the granary. When they lived in the High Country, they only needed to build it strong enough to keep Goat out. In the Low Country, they knew they also needed to consider Bear, Deer, and Elk. Because Bear was powerful, the granary must be very strong.

<sup>4</sup> There was an old steel road that passed by their village. The large steam-breathing machines that once used this road no longer needed it. There was a huge iron box on wheels about a half hour's walk up the steel road from the village. All agreed that if the box could be pushed to the village, it could serve as a safe granary. Even Bear could not open the strong iron doors.

<sup>5</sup> So the men tried to push the iron box to the village. But it was so heavy that they could barely make it move. All the men worked very hard. After much effort, they had pushed the box only as far as the length of a man's hand before they needed to rest. For two days they pushed and rested. Pushed and rested. Then they pushed and rested some more. At last, they were all exhausted. "It would take less work," they said, "to build a granary in the village than to move the iron box."

<sup>6</sup> A new granary was built in the village. It held food during two winters. And then the drought came. The fields produced little grain. In the fall, few berries were found in the forest because Bear was taking almost everything for himself. Deer and Elk were eating all that was left. Still, because the people had been careful and worked hard, the granary held enough food to last them for the winter.

<sup>7</sup> Then one night, just before Bear was ready to go to sleep for the winter, he smashed the granary door. He ate much of the food. After Bear left, Deer and Elk also filled their bellies.

<sup>8</sup> During the cold, hard winter, when everyone was hungry, the wise man thought again about the iron box on the steel road. Certainly, he decided, there must be a way to move it to the village. Was it possible that the problem had been that they had stopped to rest each time after moving the iron box only a short distance?

<sup>9</sup> Early the next spring, the wise man had a plan. He took four young men with him to the iron box on wheels. Each man led his donkey.

<sup>10</sup> The men first tied a long rope to the front of the iron box. Then they cut a tall tree for a pole and stood it upright. They threw the rope over the top of the pole. Finally, they fastened heavy rocks to the end of the rope. The wise man knew that the rope was pulling on the iron box even though it was not yet moving. Next, the wise man harnessed the donkeys to the iron box so that they could also pull.

Finally, the wise man and the four young men pushed as hard as they could. The iron box slowly began to move.

<sup>11</sup> But the wise man's plan was different from the villagers' plan before. He and the young men did not stop to rest. Instead, even after the heavy rocks had reached the ground, the men kept pushing the iron box.

<sup>12</sup> The iron box on wheels did just what the wise man thought it would. The longer they pushed, the faster the iron box moved. They did not need to work as hard to keep it rolling once it began to move.

<sup>13</sup> The wise man knew that if all of the village men would work together, they could move the iron box to the village. He knew that they would all need to work very hard to get the iron box to start moving. Then once it was moving some could rest and others could push. If they did not stop, they could slowly move the iron box to their village.

<sup>15</sup> If you are beginning to study English with Spoken English Learned Quickly, you know that learning any language is difficult. You may work hard for two or three weeks and it will seem like nothing is happening. However, learning to speak English is much like pushing a heavy car on a railroad track. It will take much effort at first. But if you keep working, you will see more and more progress.

This is the end of Lesson 15. Use your extra time this week to review Lessons 11-14.

Information for the Student

This course can be used by university students, professionals, and others who want to speak English well.

These lessons will help you learn to speak English in a short period of time. If you practice one or two hours each day with the lessons on the audio recordings, you should be able to speak simple English within six months. However, learning English will require hard work each day.

This course can be used by both beginning and advanced English students. The lessons are neither too difficult for a beginning student nor too easy for an advanced student. They can also be used by students who want to study without an instructor. However, you will learn better pronunciation if you practice for two hours each week with an English teacher.

There are three simple rules to follow in this English course:

1. To learn to speak English correctly, you must speak it aloud.

It is important that you speak loudly and clearly when you are practicing with the recorded lessons.

2. To learn to speak English fluently, you must think in English.

You are not "thinking" in English if you are reading your answers. Once you understand each exercise, it is very important that you respond without looking at the printed lesson. Making your mind work in order to think of the answer is an important part of learning a language.

3. The more you speak correct English aloud, the more quickly you will learn to speak fluently.

Every lesson will be difficult when you start. However, as you practice, you will learn to speak correctly. You must practice until you can repeat the exercises fluently without looking at the printed lesson. We often tell our students, "You will learn best when your ears hear your mouth speaking correct English."

How to Get Started

1. To use these lessons, you will need both Acrobat Reader and Windows Media Player on your computer. Both can be downloaded free from the Home page by clicking on Download PDF Reader or Download Media Player. (Try opening a "Download" lesson and playing the sound before you download either the PDF Reader or Media Player. If the "Download"  lesson will not open, you need the PDF Reader. If there is no sound , you need the Media Player.)
2. Click on the Help link for an explanation of the icons used in the lessons.
3. When you begin a new lesson, click on the Lesson Vocabulary icon . Print the vocabulary pages. Then study each English vocabulary word and write its meaning in your language. Write new vocabulary words and expressions in a small notebook that you can carry with you. Review vocabulary frequently during the day.
4. Click on Lesson 1. When Lesson 1 opens, click on the MEDIA icon . The voice on the audio recording will ask you to listen to the example ("Listen to the example"). Next, you will hear an example of students responding in English as they use the recording for their own English practice. The examples in the first two lessons show you how to respond as you study. Always practice the exercises by speaking out loud.
5. When you begin a new lesson, you may read the written lesson as you repeat the exercises with the audio recording. However, after you understand the lesson, do the speaking exercises without looking at the written exercises. Practice each exercise until you can say it exactly as you hear it on the recording without looking at the written lesson.
6. If you are able to do so, practice the exercises using the audio recordings for one to two hours a day for five days each week. (Click on See More.) This will give you 10 hours of spoken English language study each week. Your purpose is much more than merely knowing the vocabulary words and understanding the meaning of the sentences. Your purpose is to be able speak each sentence so fluently that any English-speaking person can easily understand what you are saying.
7. Review exercises from previous lessons once each week.
8. You can place an audio tape recorder next to your computer speakers in order to make a tape cassette copy for your personal use. For recording and printing, use the AB part of each lesson from the Home page or the "Download"  section from a lesson page. (If your computer does not have enough memory to open both documents at once, use the Lesson Downloads link on the Home page and record or print each document separately.) You can record the A half on one side of a 60-minute cassette recording tape, and the B half on the other side. The A half is always longer than the B half so that you can turn the tape over immediately after the A part is finished. You can also make MP3 compact discs (CDs) from the Lesson Downloads link on the Home page.

The purpose of this course is to teach you to speak fluent English. This course uses normal English sentences and is suitable for both beginning and advanced students. For a beginning student, the best way to learn spoken English is to use normal sentences that are used every day in conversation. For an advanced student, the best way to become fluent in English is to use these same normal sentences until they can be said correctly with good pronunciation. The difference between a beginning student and an advanced student is not in which lesson they use, but is in how much time they must spend on each lesson. This is why these lessons are so valuable for continued study. Each time you review the lessons, you will gain greater English speaking fluency.

These lessons will help you speak fluent English in almost half the time as courses that teach spoken English with writing and grammar. This is true whether you are just beginning or if you have studied English for many years. Most students have the greatest difficulty learning to use the English verb correctly. You will learn how to use the English verb accurately in these lessons.

Most of all, continue reviewing the lessons until you can repeat each sentence fluently. You have not yet finished the course even if you know the vocabulary and understand the exercises. You have not truly finished the course until you can use each sentence in fluent English conversation.

Wherever you are in the world, we wish you the best of success as you study English.

COMING TO THE UNITED STATES

<sup>1</sup> Between 1850 and 1930, many people immigrated to the United States. Large groups came from non-English speaking countries such as Germany, Italy, Austria, Russia, Mexico, Sweden, Norway, Poland, China, and Japan. Most immigrants from these countries did not speak English when they arrived. Frequently, the adults learned only simple English. Their children learned English when they studied in American schools.

<sup>2</sup> During that period of time, there was a strong feeling among English-speaking Americans--and sometimes even among immigrant parents--that English was the only language that should be used. As a result, many immigrant children learned their parents' language when they were young, but stopped using it after they began attending American schools. They spoke only English unless they were talking to their parents or attending their parents' church. When these children became older, many could understand their parents' language but they could not speak it well. Equally, their parents could understand some English, but could not speak it fluently. This resulted in two languages being used in many homes. The parents used their own language when speaking to their children and the children responded in English.

<sup>3</sup> It was good that the immigrant children learned English well. It was not good, however, that the attitude at the time resulted in the loss of their ability to speak two languages fluently.

<sup>4</sup> Now that you live in the United States, there will be many advantages for you if you learn to speak English well. It is our hope that SPOKEN ENGLISH LEARNED QUICKLY will help you reach your goal of speaking fluent English. However, learning English must never reduce the value of your own language and cultural heritage. Always be proud of it. If you are a parent now-or when you have your own children-teach them your language and your culture.

THE JOURNEY OF A WISE MAN: A Fable for English Learners

<sup>3</sup> The wise man noticed something strange taking place soon after they began their journey. As they traveled day after day, his right arm began to feel stiff. The further they traveled from the High Country, the weaker it became. Three things puzzled him. First, his arm always felt the weakest whenever they stopped in a village. Secondly, he noticed that when the travelers from the High Country gathered around a fire at night to talk among themselves, his arm became strong again.

<sup>4</sup> His third discovery puzzled him the most. When he put his arm behind his back, it no longer felt stiff and useless.

<sup>5</sup> One day the wise man was startled. As his wagon rounded a bend in a high mountain road, he looked down on his neighbors' wagons ahead of him. He realized that many others were also holding an arm behind their back. As he looked more closely, he saw that some older people had even tied their arm in place with a rope.

<sup>7</sup> At last they reached the Low Country. The weather was warm. The fields would produce grain and the forests would supply lumber for their houses. Life looked promising. Promising, that is, except for their weak arms. It was rumored that the Low Country's air caused this strange weakness. Some of the people even said they must learn to live with this weakness if they wanted to stay in the Low Country.

<sup>8</sup> The adults and children set to work. They cleared the land, planted crops, and prepared lumber to build their new homes. A High Country tailor sewed a new kind of coat that would hold the useless arm in place. He also put leather on the coat so the shoulder could push heavy loads. Even with the new coat, however, work was slow because everyone used only one arm.

<sup>9</sup> Again, the wise man noticed a strange thing. First, he noticed that--even though it caused them pain--the children soon began using their weak arm again. Secondly, the wise man noticed that whenever the High Country people met together in their first buildings, if they shut all the doors and windows, strength returned to the arms of even the oldest men and women. "Surely," most said, "this proves that the Low Country air is at fault." Most agreed that the only solution was to build houses so strong that all Low Country air could be kept outside. But the wise man was puzzled most because the children seemed to become stronger while playing and working outside in the Low Country air.

<sup>10</sup> The wise man watched his High Country neighbors trying to build their houses while using only one arm. He became fearful for his people's welfare. The new coat helped them work faster with one arm. But winter was coming and neither the houses nor the crops would be ready if everyone continued to work with one arm behind their back.

<sup>11</sup> The wise man learned a lesson from the children. He realized that--even though it was painful--using his weak arm for hard work was the only way to make it strong again. Because winter was coming, he knew that he could not stop working on his house in order to spend all his time trying to make his arm strong. But he also knew that he could not finish his house before winter unless he used both arms. The wise man decided that if he was to finish his house before winter, he must spend some time each day strengthening his arm so that he could finish his house more quickly.

<sup>13</sup> Some High Country people perished that winter because the snow came before their crops were harvested and their houses finished. They had worked slowly every day because they were afraid to stop working on their houses long enough to strengthen their weak arm.

<sup>14</sup> If you live in the United States and cannot speak English well, you are living as though one arm was tied behind your back. You must work to support your family. But if you do not spend time each day learning English, you will be limited for the rest of your life. SPOKEN ENGLISH LEARNED QUICKLY was written so that you can study at home and still hold a job. If you will regularly study English each day for six months to a year, your English will greatly improve. You will be more able to earn higher wages, live more effectively in your community, and talk with your children as they learn English in school.

A WISE MAN'S DISCOVERY: A Fable for English Learners

<sup>1</sup> A long time ago, there was a wise man living in the Low Country. He and his neighbors had built new homes and started a new life.

<sup>2</sup> Their first winter in the Low Country was difficult because many had not finished their houses or harvested their crops before winter. When spring finally came, they knew that they must not only plant their crops, but they must also build a granary to store the coming harvest.

<sup>3</sup> They talked much about the granary. When they lived in the High Country, they only needed to build it strong enough to keep Goat out. In the Low Country, they knew they also needed to consider Bear, Deer, and Elk. Because Bear was powerful, the granary must be very strong.

<sup>4</sup> There was an old steel road that passed by their village. The large steam-breathing machines that once used this road no longer needed it. There was a huge iron box on wheels about a half hour's walk up the steel road from the village. All agreed that if the box could be pushed to the village, it could serve as a safe granary. Even Bear could not open the strong iron doors.

<sup>5</sup> So the men tried to push the iron box to the village. But it was so heavy that they could barely make it move. All the men worked very hard. After much effort, they had pushed the box only as far as the length of a man's hand before they needed to rest. For two days they pushed and rested. Pushed and rested. Then they pushed and rested some more. At last, they were all exhausted. "It would take less work," they said, "to build a granary in the village than to move the iron box."

<sup>6</sup> A new granary was built in the village. It held food during two winters. And then the drought came. The fields produced little grain. In the fall, few berries were found in the forest because Bear was taking almost everything for himself. Deer and Elk were eating all that was left. Still, because the people had been careful and worked hard, the granary held enough food to last them for the winter.

<sup>7</sup> Then one night, just before Bear was ready to go to sleep for the winter, he smashed the granary door. He ate much of the food. After Bear left, Deer and Elk also filled their bellies.

<sup>8</sup> During the cold, hard winter, when everyone was hungry, the wise man thought again about the iron box on the steel road. Certainly, he decided, there must be a way to move it to the village. Was it possible that the problem had been that they had stopped to rest each time after moving the iron box only a short distance?

<sup>9</sup> Early the next spring, the wise man had a plan. He took four young men with him to the iron box on wheels. Each man led his donkey.

<sup>10</sup> The men first tied a long rope to the front of the iron box. Then they cut a tall tree for a pole and stood it upright. They threw the rope over the top of the pole. Finally, they fastened heavy rocks to the end of the rope. The wise man knew that the rope was pulling on the iron box even though it was not yet moving. Next, the wise man harnessed the donkeys to the iron box so that they could also pull. Finally, the wise man and the four young men pushed as hard as they could. The iron box slowly began to move.

<sup>11</sup> But the wise man's plan was different from the villagers' plan before. He and the young men did not stop to rest. Instead, even after the heavy rocks had reached the ground, the men kept pushing the iron box.

<sup>12</sup> The iron box on wheels did just what the wise man thought it would. The longer they pushed, the faster the iron box moved. They did not need to work as hard to keep it rolling once it began to move.

<sup>13</sup> The wise man knew that if all of the village men would work together, they could move the iron box to the village. He knew that they would all need to work very hard to get the iron box to start moving. Then once it was moving some could rest and others could push. If they did not stop, they could slowly move the iron box to their village.

<sup>15</sup> If you are beginning to study English with SPOKEN ENGLISH LEARNED QUICKLY, you know that learning any language is difficult. You may work hard for two or three weeks and it will seem like nothing is happening. However, learning to speak English is much like pushing a heavy car on a railroad track. It will take much effort at first. But if you keep working, you will see more and more progress.

MORE SPOKEN ENGLISH STUDY

After you finish the SPOKEN ENGLISH LEARNED QUICKLY lessons, there are three things you can do which will help you increase your ability to speak fluent English.

I. Listen to the voice recordings

When you finish all of the lessons in the Spoken English Student Workbook, you will have learned much about spoken English and you will have a large vocabulary. But you will not be a fluent English speaker. Fluent speech is more than knowing vocabulary and using correct sentences. Before you will be able to speak fluently—and be understood well by English listeners—you must be able to speak with the same rhythm and pronunciation as an English speaker. For most students, learning the rhythm and pronunciation of a new language will take more effort and time than learning vocabulary and grammar.

The best way to learn the correct rhythm and pronunciation of English is to use the SPOKEN ENGLISH LEARNED QUICKLY CDs. For at least one year after you have finished the Spoken English Student Workbook lessons, you should use the voice recordings for at least one hour each day. Listen and repeat each exercise (without looking at the book) just as you did when you were studying the lessons. Continue using the voice recordings until you can respond with exactly the same rhythm and pronunciation as the voice on the CD.

It will take more effort to work each day on your English rhythm and pronunciation than it did to do the lessons. However, if you want to learn to speak English well, practicing speaking using an English accent is the only way you can succeed. (A language's accent is its rhythm and pronunciation.)

II. Read a newspaper

Reading a newspaper is another excellent way to practice spoken English. Most newspapers use important English vocabulary words. A newspaper will give you many common political, scientific, economic, and technical words. The Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) exams often use words that are frequently found in English newspapers.

However, using a newspaper to study spoken English will require that you do more than merely reading an article once. When you chose a newspaper article to study, you must read it a number of times and read it aloud. You must always look up words you do not know in your dictionary and attempt to use these new words and expressions when you speak.

1. Print an article from a newspaper web site. (Always select a newspaper from the country using the English you are studying.)
2. First, read the article out loud looking for new vocabulary.
3. Whenever you read a word you do not know, stop and find it in your English dictionary.
4. Write the English words you do not know in a notebook. Then write the meaning of the word in your own language.
5. If a word you do not know is used more than twice in an article, put a check mark (✓) by it. The check mark means that the word should receive special study.
6. You do not need to write names of places or people in your notebook.
7. After you finish reading the article for the first time, review the meaning of all the new vocabulary words you wrote in your notebook. Study these words enough so that you know what they mean when you read the article.
8. Now read the entire article aloud for fluency practice. Try reading the article as smoothly as possible without stopping. Read it aloud twice. Your purpose is to read it so that an English speaking person could easily understand what you are saying.
9. Read the article again for meaning. Always read aloud. If you do not understand a sentence, stop and figure out exactly what it means.
  - a. If some of the meanings you have written in your notebook do not make sense in the article, find the word again in your dictionary and see if it has other meanings. Write the meaning in your notebook that makes the most sense as a second meaning for that word.
  - b. If you still cannot figure out the meaning of a sentence, it may be because two or three words are used together as an expression. Try to figure out the meaning of expressions. Look for similar expressions in other articles. If you cannot figure out the meaning of an expression, you may need to ask an English speaking person about it.

10. Identify expressions as you read. Use a special mark to identify all the words of an expression in the articles.
  - a. Try substituting other words while using the same expression. Say or write several sentences using the same expression. For example, you may read a sentence in a newspaper which says, "Governor Mitchell announced Friday he will not run for another term, putting to rest months of speculation about his future intentions." "Putting to rest" is an expression which means "ending." (The sentence means that the Governor was "ending months of speculation about his future intentions.") Try writing sentences using the new expression. Most expressions can be used in different tenses with different people or things. For example, the expression "to put to rest" can be used in the present, "I want to put it to rest," in the future, "he will put his argument to rest," or in the past, "they finally put their rivalry to rest."
  - b. Many times, English uses forms of words as a type of expression. For example, you may read a sentence in a newspaper which says, "We're getting all kinds of calls from people who are panicking and asking what they can do." This form of expression uses two (or more) words ending in "...ing" to describe two (or more) actions that the same person is doing at one time. Substitute other words while using the same form of the expression. Try writing several different sentences. You might say, "Parents are taking their children from school and going home." "The children were finishing their lessons and leaving for lunch." Or, "We were sitting on the grass, listening to the concert."
11. For more fluency practice, continue reading the article aloud until you can read it at the same speed that an English speaker talks. Practice until your pronunciation sounds like that of an English speaker.
12. Your purpose is not merely to learn the vocabulary in these articles, but to learn to speak English correctly. Keep practicing until you can read the article aloud so that an English-speaking person could clearly understand what you are saying.
13. Select other newspaper articles and continue reading aloud while you look for new vocabulary words. When you find a word in your notebook that you have already checked (✓), place a second check (✓✓) by it. Any word in your notebook with two checks should be memorized as a word you need to know.

14. Frequently review the English words in your notebook. Try using each word in a sentence. Use these new words when you talk with an English speaker.
15. However, the newspaper cannot give you proper English rhythm and pronunciation. Do not stop using the SPOKEN ENGLISH LEARNED QUICKLY audiotapes when you begin reading from the newspaper.

III. Read the Lesson Text

You can read the Lesson Text from the SPOKEN ENGLISH LEARNED QUICKLY lessons in the same way you would read from a newspaper. You can also read the articles Information for the Student, Coming to the United States, The Journey of a Wise Man, and The Wise Man's Discovery which are reproduced in this section of the Student Workbook.
